SENATE BELLIGERENT OVER TAX REDUCTION

CLAMOR FROM COUNTRY FOR SUCH MEASURE

SENATORS FIND MAIL RECEIVED ON SUBJECT NEARLY DOUBLED

THREE MAIN PLANS AND HALF DOZEN COMPROMISES

Congress Today

(By United Press)
Senate: Daugherty investigation continues.
House: Shipping board investigation.
Immigration bill.

Washington, April 11.—The senate today approached consideration of the tax reduction bill in a belligerent frame of mind.

Sometime between now and June 10 leaders hope a revenue measure will be sent to President Coolidge, but they admitted today they cannot now foresee the probable date or predict the terms of the bill finally enacted.

Meanwhile the clamor from the country for tax reduction legislation increases. Within the past week senators said their mail on this subject had almost doubled.

Split into many groups of thought on taxes, the senate had before it three main plans and a half dozen compromises, most of the latter still in a nebulous form. The principal proposals are the original Mellon reduction program to which administration leaders still cling stoutly; the house compromise and the senate democratic proposals.

To many senators none of these three is acceptable and there is a movement on to evolve a fourth plan embodying some features of all of the other three.

CAMPAIGN LOANS ARE DELVED INTO

Washington April 11.—Loans of $150,000 were made to the republican national committee during the 1920 campaign by William Boyce Thompson, financial chairman of the committee, William Wallace, Jr., Thompson's secretary, told the senate oil committee today.

Appearing for Thompson who, he said, was in an Arizona sanitarium undergoing treatment, Wallace made a detailed statement of Thompson's campaign financing.

A subpoena for Thompson was issued several weeks ago, but has never been served.

The $150,000 was loaned in two installments, Wallace said, one of $50,000 through his daughter Margaret and another of $100,000 through one of his companies.

Wallace denied any connection between Thompson's "backing" of the party's strong box and his Sinclair oil holdings.

Thompson, he added, sold all Sinclair interests in 1921 and resigned his position as a director of the oil corporation.

"Mr. Thompson suffered heavy losses in the sum total of his Sinclair operations," Wallace said.

MORE ABOUT 101 RANCH AFFAIRS

Washington, April 11.—James J. McGraw of Tulsa, Oklahoma, former republican national committeeman, testified today before the senate Daugherty committee that he sought to have Attorney General Daugherty stop indictments of the Miller Brothers of the 101 ranch for Indian land frauds in Oklahoma.

McGraw said that he had two conferences in Washington with Daugherty about the Miller Brothers case, and urged him to study the report of the department of justice investigation of the land deal for which Geo. L. Miller was indicted, pleaded guilty and was fined $7,500.

"I was confident," McGraw said, "that if Mr. Daugherty studied this report he would find no basis for an indictment."

Louis Barthou, president of the commission, conferred with Premier Poincare this morning. Sir John Bradbury, British member, reported he had received the opinion of the new labor government concerning the report.

M. Gutt, Belgium, learned the views of Premier Theunis.

Premier Poincare is said to consider the report is unsatisfactory as a technical solution, but believes its adoption must be accompanied by political accord guaranteeing France support of the allies in case Germany defaults.

(By United Press)

The vote was: Thomas, 20,992; McDonald 18,829 in 1,892 out of 1,936 precincts in the state.

SIMPLICITY TO MARK FUNERAL OF HUGO STINNES

PLACE OF CREMATION WILMERDORF INSTITUTE ON MONDAY

DOUBLE PNEUMONIA FOLLOWED
SEVERAL OPERATIONS
RECENTLY

(By United Press)
Berlin, April 11.—Simplicity which marked the life of Germany's great industrial captain, Hugo Stinnes, will attend his funeral ceremonies.

The place of cremation will be at Wilmerdorf Institute here Monday morning.

Double pneumonia and other complications set in after the great industrial financier had been weakened by several operations for gall stones.

Hugo Stinnes, the Man
Large, but not tall.
Erect, but not stiff.
Not thin and not overly strong.
Ordinary in facial appearance.
Short cut black hair.
Pointed beard.
Yellow complexion.
Small, narrow, piercing eyes.
Changeable.
Cunning.
Without great depth.
Firm in matters of honor.
At first glance—fellow-well-met.
Not an orator; speech slow, tired and mumbly.
When he spoke, however, his words counted.
Close observer.
Considered everything as relative.
Interests—his work, his workers, his country and his fortune.
Determined. His word was law among his fellow directors.

Hugo Stinnes, Germany's wealthiest man, declared:

"I have two great principles: The first is the working jointly of all the industries under my control. I do not agree with the founders of the great American trusts in America that every branch is independent of the other. They are bound together. I began, for instance, with coal as the foundation of my industrial undertakings. Then I went into the metal industry; then into the building industry; bought ships for inland and oceanic traffic to transport my coal. On the other hand, I went into the soft coal business, then took up forestry and paper making before going into the newspaper game. So, intermingling my activities, I built up my career to gain the highest profit with the smallest cost."

"My second principle is to work together with the general unions of workers. My electric works on the Rhine are partly owned by the employees. I myself lived for months with the workers in order to understand their problems. I am now desirous to interest myself in the problems of the worker in order to better their condition."

Hugo Stinnes, "the man who buys everything," was born on February 12, 1870, in Muelheim on the Ruhr. He was the son of the merchant, Hugo Stinnes, and Adeline Couplenne Stinnes.

He was the coolest, most deliberately calculating man in Germany—the man who reckoned everything in gold, in service, in production, in power and in political accomplishment.

The family of Stinnes is not an old one in the industrial history of Germany. His grandfather was the founder of the firm, Matthias Stinnes Company of Muelheim. Stinnes' father was a merchant. The youngster was sent through the gymnasium and finished school without a hitch. After his graduation in 1888 he was sent to learn the merchandising trade with Karl Spaeter in Coblenz. He had worked there only a short time when he became dissatisfied.

For a few months he worked as a practical miner. In 1889 he attended the mining academy in Berlin. In 1890 he joined the firm of his grandfather.

In a special communication from the department today it was said that "Welles was ordered to offer the friendly assistance of the United States government in finding a solution to bring about establishment of peace in the Honduran republic."

SHOOTS LANDLADY TO STIMULATE SALE OF HER NEW BOOK

(By United Press)
Portland, Ore., April 11.—Nora Hollis, stenographer-author, walted arraigning here today on a charge of slaying her landlady, Mrs. Eva Bradley, shot to death yesterday.

Miss Hollis is demented, authorities said they believed. Mrs. Bradley was killed without warning. Later police said Miss Hollis explained the shooting by saying, "Somebody had to die so my book will be read."

The book, "The Living God of the Bible is Satan the Evil One," exalts a "demon God" under whose urge Miss Hollis had shot Mrs. Bradley.

SEN. BORAH IN STATEMENT ON INVESTIGATION

TO BE IMMEDIATE AND SEARCH-
ONE, SAYS SENATOR
BORAH

AWAITS OFFICIAL COPIES OF THE PAPERS IN THE CASE

(By United Press)
Washington, April 11.—Senate investigation of the indictment of Senator Wheeler, Montana, is to be immediate and searching, Senator Borah, Idaho, said today as he prepared to organize at once his specially appointed committee on inquiry.

Borah's probe awaits only official copies of the papers in the Wheeler case, for which he has telegraphed court officials at Great Falls, where Wheeler was indicted.

The investigation, however, will go beyond an examination of the testimony submitted to the grand jury and will take in every angle of the case. There is a strong feeling among senators that although Wheeler might have technically violated a law, the attending circumstances will show that his action was in itself innocent.

Many senators have criticized as ill-advised and hasty the cry of "frame-up" which was raised by some of Wheeler's close friends before they had the facts in the case. Testimony yesterday before the Brookhart committee investigating Harry M. Daugherty showing that the republican national committee has an agent in Great Falls and that three department of justice agents were sent there on the Wheeler case, has nothing to do with the facts about Wheeler's guilt or innocence, senators pointed out.

Hicks, 77, reputed to be one of the wealthiest men of southern Minnesota, is dead here today as the result of an accident Wednesday when he was crushed between two surface line cars. Hicks, who came here to sell ten carloads of cattle, lived at Tracy, Minnesota, although his wife and daughter recently moved to Minneapolis so that the latter could attend the University of Minnesota.

Hicks leaves an estate estimated at more than $1,000,000. He had large property and stock holdings in Tracy, was president of the Exchange State bank of South St. Paul, the Citizens State bank of Tracy, and a director in many corporations.

The body is to be taken to Tracy for interment.

Whipped Cream War

Berlin, April 11.—Berlin's hoteliers and bakers are engaged in a heavy war with the authorities in an effort to have abrogated a war-time ruling against serving whipped cream in their establishments. The authorities maintain that milk is too scarce and too poor already to permit them to relax restrictions against whipped cream for the "Schieber" establishments.

Madison, Wis., April 11.—Mrs. Emma M. Leonard, Antigo, Wis., is the first woman sheriff in Wisconsin. She was appointed by Governor John J. Blaine to fill the unexpired term of her husband, who died recently. She conducted the office for several months while Leonard was seriously ill.

BRITISH SHIP OWNERS LOCKOUT SHIPYARD WORKERS

(By United Press)
London, April 11.—British ship owners today announced a nationwide lockout against all shipyard workers, effective at midnight tonight.

The cause of the lockout is refusal of striking workers at Southampton to accept the owners' terms and resume work, although they were advised to do so by their own union leaders.

OFFICIAL REPORT, WINTER WHEAT, RYE IN STATE

CLAIMED TO BE 80 PER CENT OF NORMAL CROP THIS YEAR

WITH AVERAGE WAGE OF $39

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 11.—Winter wheat and rye in Minnesota is 80 per cent of a normal crop, according to the monthly report of Paul H. Kirk, statistician for the Minnesota cooperative crop reporting service.

Wheat is six per cent and rye eight per cent below the ten year average, the report stated, although considering the lack of moisture during the winter, both crops have stood the winter well.

The number of hogs has decreased about six per cent, indicating that the price of corn and of hogs has influenced the farmers, according to the report.

Farm labor exceeds the demand with an average wage of $39 a month compared to $35 March 1st.

Reports indicate that the farmers will hire no more labor this year than necessary.

To Check Insanity

(By United Press)
Madison, Wis., April 11.—"Fully 60 per cent of persons suffering from mental diseases and nervous breakdowns are victims of emotional conflicts and are not afflicted with diseases known to cause insanity," Dr. Smiley Blanton of the University of Wisconsin told a conference of public health workers here. Dr. Blanton said that proper supervision of childhood emotions on the part of parents would eliminate most of the "emotional insanity."

JACOBSON FILES FOR GOVERNOR

THIRTEENTH MAN TO ENTER
THE RACE IN MINNE-SOTA

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 10.—O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, today filed as a republican candidate for governor.

He is the 13th man to enter the race and will oppose four other republican, seven farmer-laborites and one democrat.

"I am in the hands of my friends," he said in filing. "My time will be so occupied with the work of my present office that it will be impossible for me to accept the invitations extended to speak at the many different places in the state during this campaign. I have been before the people in two campaigns for railroad and warehouse commissioner, and in every case advised the people that if nominated and elected it would be my aim to serve them to the best of my ability. I only desire to repeat that statement, and have no other promises to make at this time."

"WHO SHALL INHERIT THE UNITED STATES?"

WOMEN'S FEDERATION TO DIS-
CUSS NATIONAL PROBLEMS

CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA,
IN JUNE

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., April 11.—"Who Shall Inherit the United States?" and "War or Peace?" will be two of the outstanding problems of this country that will be presented for discussion before organized women during the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held here June 2-13.

While the program has been made out only in outline, immigration and Americanization and international relations will be given outstanding places.

Oswald Ryan, commissioner who accompanied Secretary of Labor Davis overseas, will be a speaker on the legislative session in charge of Mrs. Edward Franklin White, legislative chairman in the General Federation and Deputy Attorney General of Indiana.

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, who has just made a national survey on law enforcement as applied to liquor laws and released a map showing that even with lax enforcement the country is more than 61 per cent bone dry, will be a speaker at the Los Angeles legislative luncheon. She is expected to make disclosures that will result in a more drastic stand of organized women in the matter of prohibition and prohibition enforcement officers.

Women to Help Drys

In this connection, Imogen B. Oakley of Philadelphia, chairman of the division of civil service, is expected to introduce a resolution having the 2,800,000 women of the Federation demand that all law enforcement officers be placed under civil service. She is expected to make further charges that many of the so-called enforcement officers are now in the pay of the liquor interests.

In addition to the legislative programs on the biennial convention, a day each will be given to discussion of various problems of education, public welfare, fine arts, American citizenship and foreign relations.

Mrs. John D. Sherman of Estes Park, Colo., candidate for president of the General Federation to succeed Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, is chairman of education. On this program to be given June 6, general education problems and the pressing need of a secretary of education in the United States Cabinet and the passage of the education bill pending in Congress will be stressed by Mrs. C. E. Vowles of Mount Pleasant, Mich.

Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, Denver, Colo., formerly president of the American Education Association, will speak on public revenues and expenditures.

Kindergartens and the need of more of them will be discussed by Julia Wade Abbott of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C. Other educational topics will be presented.

In special division conferences there will be exhibits and informal talks on county co-operation by Susie V. Powell, Arts and Mechanical College, Mississippi; vocational home economics, Mrs. Joseph C. Gawler, Yakima, Wash.; home demonstration, Mrs. Joseph F. Leach, Walpole, Mass.; conservation of national resources, Mrs. Francis E. Whitley, Webster City, Iowa.

A plea for the preservation of natural scenery will be made by Mrs. Charles H. McNider, Mason City, Iowa, mother of former Commander McNider of the American Legion.

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 11.—Winter wheat and rye in Minnesota is 80 per cent of a normal crop, according to the monthly report of Paul H. Kirk, statistician for the Minnesota cooperative crop reporting service.

Wheat is six per cent and rye eight per cent below the ten year average, the report stated, although considering the lack of moisture during the winter, both crops have stood the winter well.

The number of hogs has decreased about six per cent, indicating that the price of corn and of hogs has influenced the farmers, according to the report.

Farm labor exceeds the demand with an average wage of $39 a month compared to $35 March 1st.

Reports indicate that the farmers will hire no more labor this year than necessary.

To Check Insanity

(By United Press)
Madison, Wis., April 11.—"Fully 60 per cent of persons suffering from mental diseases and nervous breakdowns are victims of emotional conflicts and are not afflicted with diseases known to cause insanity," Dr. Smiley Blanton of the University of Wisconsin told a conference of public health workers here. Dr. Blanton said that proper supervision of childhood emotions on the part of parents would eliminate most of the "emotional insanity."

JACOBSON FILES FOR GOVERNOR

THIRTEENTH MAN TO ENTER
THE RACE IN MINNE-
SOTA

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 10.—O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, today filed as a republican candidate for governor.

He is the 13th man to enter the race and will oppose four other republican, seven farmer-laborites and one democrat.

"I am in the hands of my friends," he said in filing. "My time will be so occupied with the work of my present office that it will be impossible for me to accept the invitations extended to speak at the many different places in the state during this campaign. I have been before the people in two campaigns for railroad and warehouse commissioner, and in every case advised the people that if nominated and elected it would be my aim to serve them to the best of my ability. I only desire to repeat that statement, and have no other promises to make at this time."

"WHO SHALL INHERIT THE UNITED STATES?"

WOMEN'S FEDERATION TO DIS-
CUSS NATIONAL PROBLEMS

CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA,
IN JUNE

(By United Press)
Los Angeles, Calif., April 11.—"Who Shall Inherit the United States?" and "War or Peace?" will be two of the outstanding problems of this country that will be presented for discussion before organized women during the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to be held here June 2-13.

While the program has been made out only in outline, immigration and Americanization and international relations will be given outstanding places.

Oswald Ryan, commissioner who accompanied Secretary of Labor Davis overseas, will be a speaker on the legislative session in charge of Mrs. Edward Franklin White, legislative chairman in the General Federation and Deputy Attorney General of Indiana.

Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, who has just made a national survey on law enforcement as applied to liquor laws and released a map showing that even with lax enforcement the country is more than 61 per cent bone dry, will be a speaker at the Los Angeles legislative luncheon. She is expected to make disclosures that will result in a more drastic stand of organized women in the matter of prohibition and prohibition enforcement officers.

Women to Help Drys

In this connection, Imogen B. Oakley of Philadelphia, chairman of the division of civil service, is expected to introduce a resolution having the 2,800,000 women of the Federation demand that all law enforcement officers be placed under civil service. She is expected to make further charges that many of the so-called enforcement officers are now in the pay of the liquor interests.

In addition to the legislative programs on the biennial convention, a day each will be given to discussion of various problems of education, public welfare, fine arts, American citizenship and foreign relations.

Mrs. John D. Sherman of Estes Park, Colo., candidate for president of the General Federation to succeed Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, is chairman of education. On this program to be given June 6, general education problems and the pressing need of a secretary of education in the United States Cabinet and the passage of the education bill pending in Congress will be stressed by Mrs. C. E. Vowles of Mount Pleasant, Mich.

Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, Denver, Colo., formerly president of the American Education Association, will speak on public revenues and expenditures.

Kindergartens and the need of more of them will be discussed by Julia Wade Abbott of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C. Other educational topics will be presented.

In special division conferences there will be exhibits and informal talks on county co-operation by Susie V. Powell, Arts and Mechanical College, Mississippi; vocational home economics, Mrs. Joseph C. Gawler, Yakima, Wash.; home demonstration, Mrs. Joseph F. Leach, Walpole, Mass.; conservation of national resources, Mrs. Francis E. Whitley, Webster City, Iowa.

A plea for the preservation of natural scenery will be made by Mrs. Charles H. McNider, Mason City, Iowa, mother of former Commander McNider of the American Legion.

REPARATIONS COMMISSION ACCEPTS REPORT

MADE BY THE DAWES COMMITTEE OF EXPERTS TODAY

RECOMMENDS ACCEPTANCE BY THE ALLIED GOVERNMENTS

(By United Press) Paris, April 11.—The reparations commission today accepted the report of the Dawes committee of experts, and recommended its acceptance by the allied governments provided Germany agrees to its terms.

Action of the reparations commission upon the report came with unexpected suddenness after the various members had reported upon the attitude of their governments.

Louis Barthou, French member and president of the commission announced France's acceptance, after talking with Premier Poincare this morning.

Sr John Bradbury, British member, informed his colleagues that Ramsay MacDonald and the British labor cabinet had approved the plan.

The Belgian and Italian members fell into line and shortly after six o'clock this evening acceptance of the proposals was announced with a provision that Germany must accept them as a whole.

At the same time word came from Berlin that the German government virtually had decided to accept the Dawes report.

The plan now will be sent to the allied governments for separate consideration.

GERMANY WILL PROBABLY ACCEPT REPORT

Berlin, April 11.—Germany probably will accept the Dawes report, it was stated in government circles today.

Official deliberations on the experts findings have proceeded a considerable extent.

Members of the government are perplexed as to what effect the plan will have on Germany's internal view point and what will be the effect of acceptance since it will mean many new laws.

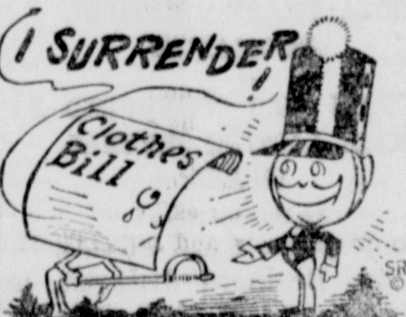

If the present government accepts the next Reichstag which will be nationalistic, may undo everything and precipitate a series of new crises involving dissolution of parliament.

Safe Fat Reduction

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the overfat wring their hands in mortification and helplessness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription and learn through it that they may safely reduce steadily and easily without any change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly, and quickly reaching their ideal of figure, with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known.

And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famous harmless formula as the Marmola Prescription. It behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe, fat reducer by giving to your druggist one dollar for a box, or sending a like amount to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, with a request that they mail to you a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets.—Advt.

FRIENDS HONOR

MISS BARRETT

Twentieth Anniversary of Her Teaching in Whittier School Celebrated

PARENT-TEACHERS HOSTS

Representatives of All Her Classes Since 1904 Passed Before Her in Review

At the meeting of the Whittier Parent-Teachers Association there was staged a most unusual demonstration Tuesday evening. The committee on arrangements made this the occasion for the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of Miss Louise Barrett's teaching in the Whittier building. About three hundred friends, including many of her former students, were present.

After Miss Barrett had been escorted to her chair of honor in the hall, there passed in review before her representatives from every class she has graduated since 1904. Heading this long procession was a child bearing aloft a placard on which was printed the alumni 1904-1924. Each class group was preceded by a child carrying a card giving the year of graduation. Each alumnus, as he passed Miss Barrett, presented her with a flower or note until she was buried under these beautiful expressions of appreciation.

In spite of her surprise, she rose to the occasion as she always does, and delivered a very sincere speech of thanks.

Dr. Joseph Nicholson addressed Miss Barrett and paid her a glowing tribute. He said in part: "You have seen, and so have we, some famous people in our lifetime, but you have also raised some celebrities—Leslie Bush for one. Some people have tried and some have succeeded in helping build up Brainerd, but your influence will be still more lasting, for you have built character. It may be that you feel like the bird described thus by the poet:

The wearied bird blown o'er the deep
Would sooner quit its shore
Than I would cross the gulf again
That time has brought me o'er
"But you should experience a deep sense of satisfaction and pride in the worthiest of work well done."

At this time there was brought in an elaborately decorated cake, encircled by twenty tall glowing candles. This beautiful addition to the evening's celebration was made by Mrs. Nicholson. The doctor continued: "As every candle around this cake is burning brightly, with not one dim through lack of care, so each year of your work stands out, having received its due share of your untiring attention and faithfulness." Again Miss Barrett replied, saying that she remembered every one of her pupils, was proud of them all and still felt that they were "her children."

The program was given almost entirely by alumni. The first number was a trio, Oriente, by Cesar Cui, played by Miss Alice Johnstone, violinist, Miss Carol Dean, cellist, and Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone, pianist. This, and their second number, Moonrise at Thirteenth Lake, by Henry Ludwig, were charming bits of chamber music with beautiful harmony and exquisite tonal execution.

Another most interesting group of players was Elmer and Carl Peterson and Hans Pflock. These young men, with clarinet, violin and piano, played a double number and were greatly appreciated.

The five "Little Girls" who were announced next were wonderfully "gotten up" for the occasion, wearing gorgeous hair ribbons, pig-tails and best dresses. Each gave a recitation, some most glibly and others getting through with some difficulty. One "little girl" had forgotten to relieve herself of her gum, and another tried to run the whole "act," but everyone enjoyed seeing the children on the program. These "little girls" proved to be Mrs. A. C. Weber, Mrs. F. E. Stout, Mrs. R. T. Campbell, Mrs. John F. Woodhead and Mrs. C. W. Hoffman. One of their recitations ran this way:

The Cobbs' once had a Lizzy,
They drove it till it made them dizzy,
They tooted the horn—they turned the crank,
Till poor Wilbur almost fell over a great, steep bank.

Interrupting the great applause and laughter that followed, came another "little girl" protesting to be heard as an encore to the first group. She said she had found her piece written on a paper that had been dropped on the school steps. Her poem follows:

The Whittier has a teacher
That is better'n any preacher

To put the fear o' God in hearts of kids.

Preachers preach that by repentin' God is sure to be relentin' And let you off from punishment's to come

But here your sin, if grievous, If 'tisn't jest mischievous U'll bring punishment ez sure as day brings sun.

Future punishments are azy Cause St. Peter may be hazy In regard to what your record waz below.

But Miss Barrett's never hazy, Specially if kids are lazy, And her records are ez clear ez they be true.

If big folks were jest ez certain Uv God's wrath, expressed in hurtin' The church ud be ez crowded ez th' school.

This "little girl" was Mrs. W. C. Cobb.

These pieces, together with the fetching costumes, called forth heartiest words of praise for the performers and were an unusual but nevertheless real contribution to the evening.

Later on a "little boy" was called upon for a recitation, but apparently stage-fright had overcome him. This performer was Supt. W. C. Cobb, who recovered himself enough to say that he and the other husbands of the costumed ladies had expected to appear in costume, too, but since help had failed them he would be unable to give either one of the two only pieces he knew. After much fun-producing conversation he was persuaded to give one number, "The College Widow."

Kirk Smith began the next and final part of the celebration. On behalf of the Whittier alumni he presented to Miss Barrett a roll resembling a diploma and a box. In the box was a most beautiful string of pearls and on the roll were written the names of the alumni thus honoring her. As she accepted this gift Miss Barrett said, "Is there anything else? Will there be any more to be said? I am getting speechless." Later she rose and turning to the audience said, "I don't want you to look at me—but look at my pearls."

The affair took on a final humorous turn when Miss Barrett asked George D. LaBar, president of the board of education, if a holiday wouldn't be declared as a fitting ending. Upon suggestion of Supt. Cobb, Mr. LaBar very gravely asked Miss Barrett if next Saturday would do. She as seriously thanked him for the favor and amid laughter at this bit of side play the meeting broke up.

Refreshments were served and an informal hour was pleasantly spent.

The members of the refreshment committee who ably provided for the unusual number at the meeting, were Mrs. Nicholson, chairman, Mrs. R. D. King, Mrs. A. L. Alexander and Miss Sarah Irwin.

The members of the program and arrangement committee who so successfully put over this great celebration were Mrs. Mabel Carmichael, chairman, Mrs. A. T. Fisher and Miss Mary Walsh.

At the short business session which preceded the real event of the evening, officers for the ensuing year had been unanimously elected. The names voted upon were, Mrs. W. W. Bane for president, Miss Louise Barrett for vice president, Mrs. R. T. Campbell for treasurer and Mrs. Louis Knudsen for secretary.

The retiring president, Mrs. A. M. Opsahl, expressed her appreciation of the cooperation she had received but carried through her evening's program with such cleverness and speed that no gap was permitted during which time the association members could express their sentiment regarding her work for the society and for the school.

It was during this short business meeting that Miss Barrett had made her first speech, calling attention to the five splendid pictures presented to the school by Mrs. W. E. Entriken and her daughter, Miss Blanche. She called attention to an editorial in the Minneapolis Journal on "Slackers" or students who failed to make a promotion. This editorial was based on a report of Supt. W. F. Webster of Minneapolis in which he told how much these slackers cost the taxpayers each year. It laid the blame upon the parents chiefly, because they do not see that their children do regular home study and have quiet surroundings for that study.

Who Understands?
What makes a friend?
How tenderest bud to bloom expands?
How threads that seem the flimsiest strands
May strengthen into iron bands?
How hearts may feel another's fears?
How eyes may dim with other's tears?
How deep, unchanging, tender, true,
A love may be for friends like you—

Who Understands?
What makes a friend?
Who understands
How light can paint the violet blue
And give the sweet red rose its hue?
How voice of song can thrill the heart
Till from our eyes the tear-drops start?
How long-forgotten words return?
How heart-fires for the absent burn?
How, for their presence, souls may yearn.

Who Understands?

How life grows sweeter, as we share

TEETER-TAIL IS ENEMY OF INSECTS

Every boy and girl should know the little spotted sandpiper or teeter-tail, for it is widely distributed and is found along the gravelly shores of nearly all of our inland streams, lakes, and ponds.

It runs rapidly, but every few feet it has to stop and teeter or balance itself on its slender legs, writes W. L. and Irene Finley in Nature Magazine of Washington. When it flies, it utters a sharp "peet-peet! peet-peet!" and with jerky wing-beats skims close to the surface to another spot farther along the beach.

As our spotted sandpiper is a widely known bird of the river borders, so the killdeer is the well-known plover of field and meadowland. He announces himself "kill-dee! kill-dee!" wherever he goes.

From the farmer's standpoint, he is such a good insect eater that he rightfully deserves the protection of both state and federal law throughout the year.

Many birds are born naked and blind, but young sandpipers and killdeers, like baby ducks and grouse, are well clothed in down.

Within a few hours after they are hatched they are ready to leave the nest and follow their parents about and are soon able to pick up a living for themselves.

The baby killdeer shows a marked difference from many birds in that he looks a great deal like his parents as soon as he is out of the egg. He has a white forehead with a black line above, extending down and running over his eye; another black line extends from his eye to the back of his neck; his throat is pure white, with a third black stripe which extends across the breast.

EUROPE GETS READY FOR WAR IN AIR

NATION FIRST WITH BOMBING PLANES IN POSITION WINS

NEXT WAR TO BE AN "AIR CIRCUS" FOREMOST AVIATORS DECLARE

By CLARENCE DU BOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, April 10.—The next war is going to be an "air circus"—using that term in the sense applied by aviators during the last war.

The ground game will be deadly, all experts are agreed. Everybody on solid earth, combatants and non-combatants alike, will be in constant peril of death by aerial bombs or gas. The capitals and great cities of warring countries, however remote from the theoretical "front," will be just as dangerously located, almost, as the front-line trenches themselves.

Up above the clouds airmen—the boys of the "circus brigade"—will be showering death and destruction upon a quivering and helpless earth.

That's what the next war will be like—if there is one—humanity huddled aground under perils hurtling from the skies, and up in the skies airmen fighting the fight that will win or lose the war.

That is what many strategists assert. And those who doubt are afraid flatly to deny. They cannot afford to take a chance. Each big power must prepare for an air war because, if it doesn't, others will.

All Getting Ready

Therefore, each big power is thinking of and preparing for just that thing—hoping that it won't come; uncertain what will happen if it does—but getting ready for it just the same.

Just as Edison would be the first man to admit that he doesn't know much about electricity or what it can and will do in the future, so those men in air ministries, whose job it is to prepare for and anticipate the next air war will admit without hesitation that they're groping in the dark. They don't know what will happen—except that it will be unvarnished hell.

They think that the nation with the highest and fanciest fliers, and the most of them, will win.

They think that the moment the next big war breaks, air fleets from each side will start out to bomb and gas the people, the cities, the industries, of the other off of the very face of the earth.

Gases, poisons, explosives, and even disease germs—lethal agencies potentially more awful than anything the world war produced—are supposed to be leashed with military laboratories awaiting the signal for destruction.

Whoever can spread the most of this destruction first will have gone a long way toward victory. But, of course, each air force will be trying, meanwhile, to destroy the other air force. They will be fighting each other in the air, each attempting to get to the enemy land and when there to rain death and demolition upon it; each attempting to down the enemy aircraft before that intent can be accomplished.

Fighting in Upper Air

That's why some of the experts believe the biggest "circus" will win the next war. They theorize a picture of rival air fleets soaring higher and higher—each attempting to pass over air-defense lines that at low altitudes cannot be passed through. They picture a possible air-fight that will determine the next war fought four or five miles high, far from the eyes of observers, by combatants who will be garbed like deep-sea divers and cluttered with oxygen tubes and electrical wires to keep them alive in the intense cold and rarification of that altitude. They picture the winners of that super-cloud contest swooping down to London or Paris or Berlin or New York or Washington, or wherever it may be—and just smearing "em off the map.

"It may be a pipe dream," almost any of the experts will admit unhesitatingly—but they go ahead with the plans just the same.

"You see," they explain, "nobody knows it's a pipe dream. Nobody knows anything about it. Nobody will know until there is another war, if there is one, and the thing is tried out. And if you know good and well the other fellow is going to try it there's only one thing you can do, and that is to be ready to try it yourself."

FRIENDS HONOR

MISS BARRETT

Twentieth Anniversary of Her Teaching in Whittier School Celebrated

PARENT-TEACHERS HOSTS

Representatives of All Her Classes Since 1904 Passed Before Her in Review

At the meeting of the Whittier Parent-Teachers Association there was staged a most unusual demonstration Tuesday evening. The committee on arrangements made this the occasion for the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of Miss Louise Barrett's teaching in the Whittier building. About three hundred friends, including many of her former students, were present.

After Miss Barrett had been escorted to her chair of honor in the hall, there passed in review before her representatives from every class she has graduated since 1904. Heading this long procession was a child bearing aloft a placard on which was printed the alumni 1904-1924. Each class group was preceded by a child carrying a card giving the year of graduation. Each alumnus, as he passed Miss Barrett, presented her with a flower or note until she was buried under these beautiful expressions of appreciation.

In spite of her surprise, she rose to the occasion as she always does, and delivered a very sincere speech of thanks.

Dr. Joseph Nicholson addressed Miss Barrett and paid her a glowing tribute. He said in part: "You have seen, and so have we, some famous people in our lifetime, but you have also raised some celebrities—Leslie Bush for one. Some people have tried and some have succeeded in helping build up Brainerd, but your influence will be still more lasting, for you have built character. It may be that you feel like the bird described thus by the poet:

The wearied bird blown o'er the deep
Would sooner quit its shore
Than I would cross the gulf again
That time has brought me o'er
"But you should experience a deep sense of satisfaction and pride in the worthiest of work well done."

At this time there was brought in an elaborately decorated cake, encircled by twenty tall glowing candles. This beautiful addition to the evening's celebration was made by Mrs. Nicholson. The doctor continued: "As every candle around this cake is burning brightly, with not one dim through lack of care, so each year of your work stands out, having received its due share of your untiring attention and faithfulness." Again Miss Barrett replied, saying that she remembered every one of her pupils, was proud of them all and still felt that they were "her children."

WHAT RUMOR DID

"A MERE rumor that the cashier was dead started a $25,000 run on the Brainerd State bank and closed its doors," says the St. Paul Daily News in an editorial and continues with this argument:

"So much for the power of a whisper when repeated by enough credulous persons. First reports, even though subsequently disproved, usually keep one step ahead of truth until the damage is done."

"In one of his plays, entitled 'Motherly Love,' August Strindberg tells of the power of false report and suspicion:

"A gold watch was stolen from one of the officers' cabins and—God knows why!—suspicion fell on the cadet. His mates avoided him, practically sent him to Coventry and that embittered him to such an extent that he became impossible to live with, got mixed up in a row and had to leave."

"Two years afterward the thief was discovered in the person of a boatswain, but no satisfaction could be given the innocent boy, because people had only been suspicious of him. And the suspicion will stick to him the rest of his life, although it was refuted and the wretch still keeps a nickname which was given to him at the time."

"St. Paul right now is full of rumors because a bitterly waged political campaign is on. One such rumor which is doing harm is that circulated by his enemies that Mayor Nelson is a member of the Ku Klux Klan. There is no basis for it yet it persists."

"The fair-minded citizen will discount rumor and seek the truth."

AMERICAN LEGION AIDS BOY SCOUTS

The American Legion of Bemidji is fostering a rejuvenation of the Boy Scout organization there. In speaking of the Boy Scouts, the Bemidji Daily Pioneer, makes these pertinent observations:

The Boy Scout movement is one of the means of counteracting the evil influences that exist on every side to trap the growing boy. Home influences have been sadly lacking, community cleanliness has been badly spotted and there is little to engrain into the boy of today a will and determination to be "manly" in all that the term used to imply.

The Boy Scouts is not a "sissy" organization. It is a system of supervised "gangs" and it is "ganglife" that appeals to any red-blooded boy. The work of the Scouts is a benefit to the boy, a help to the community and a help to the nation. With the support of the men of the city who appeal to boys, with the cooperation of the Boys Band and above all with the aid of the American Legion, the members of which are still heroes to the boys of the nation even though their sacrifices appear to have been forgotten by the adults, the Scout movement can be put over in Bemidji and made a tremendous success.

SEWING ON BUTTONS

THE household observations recently broadcast by the editor of the Stillwater Gazette lead many of the newspaper boys to believe he's married. For instance, the matter of loosely moored buttons on pants or coats, causes many a man to express the wish that they might be more firmly attached to the clothing in question. The wish is expressed in the light of an observation and sometimes seems to fall on deaf ears. Here is what the Stillwater man says regarding the button question:

"Sewing on buttons is not much of a job but occasionally it takes at least two weeks to get one sewed on."

Then comes the magazine topic, "Do Women Love to be Bossed?"

The Stillwater man says, "Our personal observation is that they do not."

It seems words of Solomon-like wisdom are emanating in a stream from the Stillwater editorial fountain.

LABOR DEMAND INCREASES

THE United States department of labor service brings a report that the demand for mechanical labor is rapidly increasing throughout the northwest, and that farm work is also plentiful.

Lake navigation is expected to open about April 15 and iron mining will be resumed on a large scale. Railroad shops registered moderate employment increases over February.

In St. Paul large industries are employing normal forces and the employment outlook is excellent for the spring months.

In Minneapolis nearly all industrial plants are operating and increases in employment are noted in railroad shops and the building industry over February.

In Duluth industries are on a normal basis, and the employment outlook for spring is good.

In Winona railroad shops are working full time.

In Mankato moderate improvement over February is noted. There is a good demand for farm help.

THIRTEENTH IN THE RACE

THERE is no superstition connected with the candidacy of O. P. B. Jacobson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner, who has filed for the republican nomination for governor. Mr. Jacobson is thirteenth in the race.

Mr. Jacobson will oppose four other republicans, seven farmer-laborites and one lone democrat. Mr. Jacobson stated: "I have been before the people in two campaigns for railroad and warehouse commissioner, and in each instance advised the people that if nominated and elected it would be my aim to serve to the best of my ability. I only desire to repeat that statement and have no other promises to make at this time."

SOME 18,000 trees are to be set out along Minnesota highways, adding to the beauty of the scenery, thus having the state live up to its new designation, "Minnesota, the state with the tree-lined highways."

EVERY politician is acquainted with the brother politician who says his friends urged him to enter the race for this or that. E. L. Doherty, millionaire oil man, says in his recollections being published, that business forced him to enter politics.

OTHER PEOPLES OPINIONS

Editor, The Dispatch: I read with much interest the editorial entitled, "Another Factor in Town Development," which appeared in the April 10th issue of the Daily Dispatch.

There seems to be no doubt but that many Brainerd women, including the wives and daughters of some of our business men, buy their coats, hats and other wearing apparel in the "cities." Now there must be some reason for this deplorable condition. Can it be possible that the husbands of these women, by setting an example, are the cause of it all? I am of the opinion that it is—in many cases.

Do Brainerd merchants buy Brainerd-made products whenever it is possible to obtain them? They do not—at least not 100 per cent. How then, Mr. Brainerd Merchant, can you expect your wives and daughters to "buy at home" when you are yourself disloyal to the community on which your business depends?

I can cite one Brainerd industry, with which I am personally acquainted, which does not receive the unanimous support of Brainerd merchants, although its product is used daily by every one of them. I refer to the printing industry. During the past two years I have run across hundreds of samples of printed matter, issued by Brainerd merchants, which were printed out of town. Such methods certainly do not make for a "bigger and better Brainerd."

Business, like charity, begins at home. You can have all your printing done at home. Brainerd has four well-equipped printing establishments. They employ Brainerd people who spend their Brainerd-earned money in Brainerd. If you really have Brainerd's interest at heart there is no better way to show it than by patronizing Brainerd print shops and all other Brainerd industries.

"Did you confer with Daugherty shortly after the nomination of President Harding?" Senator Moses asked.

"Yes," McGraw said, "I also talked with Senator Harrell, Oklahoma, on the Miller case, but he denied having any influence with the administration. I never heard that Hamon gave a check for $25,000 to pay President Harding's hotel bill at the 1920 convention," McGraw said, and denied ever conferring with Sinclair and Daugherty in Sinclair's private car.

He said he never went to Albert B. Fall about interior department appointments.

McGraw admitted he had heard Hamon had spent "considerable money" in his campaign in Oklahoma and that he had heard Hamon would be appointed secretary of the interior, but denied he knew of Hamon's reported statement about "throwing" delegates at the convention.

"Did you ever communicate with Daugherty over the long distance telephone?" asked Moses.

"Not that I recall."

"The records of the local telephone company show that on October 25, 1921, Mr. Daugherty talked with you from Tulsa. Can you tell the committee about that conversation?"

"No."

"I will refresh your memory."

Senator Moses said, "This conversation took place shortly before the Miller Brothers case was scheduled for trial."

"I can't recall what we talked about," McGraw said.

father, Matthias Stinnes, in which his mother had retained one-fifth interest. He remained there hardly two years, when he, at the age of 23, founded his own firm with a capital of 50,000 gold marks.

Purchased "Everything"

His rise was phenomenal. Branching from his original business, he soon acquired more coal, coal distribution companies, newspapers, brick factories, iron and steel concerns and bought ships for inland and oceanic traffic. His holdings branched to foreign investments. Before the war his wealth had already reached 40,000,000 gold marks. His power was beyond measure. Cabinet members called him into their confidence. He continued to increase his power, buying everything which appeared to assure him a profitable income. Hotels, electric concerns—all phases of industry came under his control.

In the war, Stinnes' interests thrived with renewed vigor. Having materials absolutely necessary to the prosecution of the war, Stinnes held an upper hand in the financial and industrial sphere of Germany. Stinnes was continually in the confidential counsel of his government. He advocated importing Belgian workers into Germany during the war—a policy which was most unfavorably received by the allies. Higher and higher mounted his total wealth. His money was largely placed in neutral banks where it avoided war profit taxes.

During the revolution which overthrew the monarchistic government, Stinnes remained quiet. He awaited the return to normalcy when he again began the prosecution of his work—buying up everything worth while. He is said to have financed completely the campaign expenses of the Volkspartei. He was set up as a candidate and was elected to the Reichstag.

He represented Germany at the conference with the allies at Spa where he spoke freely against the entente and was greatly criticized for his open expression of his opinion. In 1922 he concluded the famous Stinnes-Lubersack agreement for reconstruction of France.

No man save Stinnes himself knew the details of his business. Much of his wealth was outside Germany during the 1923 collapse of the mark. It was generally assumed that he greatly increased his total wealth by salvaging operations when the German currency crashed.

Stinnes was also credited with skillful manipulation when the French entered the Ruhr. As the head of the "Industrialists," he was pretty well tied to the governmental policy of giving France just as small a sum as possible. When the Ruhr blockade was relaxed, Stinnes gained credit with the public, which assumed that he had an agreement with the French "Industrialists" which caused a change of policy.

But Stinnes said nothing and devoted all his time to the control of his vast properties. His hand was seen, correctly or not, in every move on the European checkerboard of business.

ELDEST SON TO INHERIT VAST ESTATE

Berlin, April 11.—Dr. Edmund Stinnes, 29, eldest son of Hugo Stinnes, inherits control of the innumerable millions of marks and hundreds of industries which the German money master acquired.

It is certain that Hugo Stinnes himself was unable to estimate the vast extent of his wealth.

Dr. Stinnes is a quiet, modest, shy little man, an independent thinker like his father. He is virtually unknown, a student and an expert in philology. He will be assisted in the tremendous task of administering the Stinnes estate by Hugo Stinnes, Jr.

LAW AGAINST PROMISCUOUS BRUSH BURNING

It has been brought to the attention of the forest ranger, that there has been promiscuous burning of brush, dead grass etc., and the state law covering such practice is quoted herewith:

Section 1. State Forester to issue fire permits. It shall be unlawful, when the ground is not snow-covered, in those portions of the state of Minnesota where there are standing or growing native coniferous trees, or in areas of ground from which native coniferous trees have been cut, or where there are slashings of such trees, or native brush, timber, slashings thereof, or excavated stumps, or where there is peat or peat roots, excavated or growing, to start or have any open fire except for domestic purposes and to protect persons or property in case of fire, without the written permission of the state forester or other authorized forest officer, unless a fire-break shall have been freshly made or plowed around the place or area wherein said fire is set.

Section 2. Conditions and restrictions. Permission to set fire to any grass, stubble, peat, brush, slash or woods for the purpose of clearing and improving land or preventing other fire shall be given whenever the same may be safely burned, upon such reasonable conditions and restrictions as the state forester may prescribe to prevent same from spreading and getting beyond control. Such permission shall be in the form of a written permit signed by a regular forest officer or a member of the town board to be designated by the state forester as township fire warden, said permits to be on blanks furnished by the state forester. Provided, however, that the forester or any of his assistants or the township fire warden may at his discretion in cases of extreme danger, refuse, revoke or postpone the use of permits to burn when such act is clearly necessary for the safety of life and property.

Section 3. Punishment for violation. Any person or corporation violating any of the foregoing provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days.

WHAT RUMOR DID

"A MERE rumor that the cashier was dead started a $25,000 run on the Brainerd State bank and closed its doors," says the St. Paul Daily News in an editorial and continues with this argument:

STUDY CREATIVE FORCES IN JAPAN

Mrs. John F. Woodhead Directed Study of Achievements of Christian Movement

TWELVE SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Social Hour Followed With Refreshments Served by the Hostess

The Missionary society of the First Congregational church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp on Friday afternoon, with a very good attendance, including three visitors.

Mrs. J. F. Woodhead, leader, directed the study of "The achievements of Christian movement" from "Creative Forces in Japan," with the carrying out of the following program. Mrs. Woodhead prefaced the study by showing how evangelism in Japan differs from that elsewhere and that the people of Japan as civilized, powerful, proud and fully acquainted with the short comings of the Christian people, which with the suspicion of political designs of the earlier days, makes the situation for extension work difficult.

Mrs. Slipp told of "The tragic first coming of Christianity," showing the Jesuits in 1549 being the first to carry the gospel message to the Japanese by the far-famed missionary, Francis Xavier, and after the work of thirty years by his successors showed half a million Christians.

Mrs. Robt. Duerr followed with the story of the Japanese martyrs, revealing twenty-six martyrs crucified at Nagasaki in 1597. With the extermination of Christianity in 1638, Japan's doors were closed to foreigners, lasting for over two hundred years.

Mrs. Losey gave the story of "A little child's faith" and showed a Japanese child being educated at a mission school of the present day, refusing to worship by the bowing of the head to the idol god, which resulted in the teacher looking into the Christian religion and later becoming a Christian.

Mrs. F. W. Wieland gave the account of Commodore Perry opening the doors of Japan by the treaty of peace, 1854. In spite of the fact that "Trade" was the reason for the doors being opened, we are proud to know that when Sunday morning dawned and Japanese officials wanted to visit his flagship, Perry told them that callers could not be received, as it was the day Americans worshipped God.

A Bible was laid on the Stars and Stripes, the ship's band played "Old Hundred" and all the American sailors sang lustily "Before Jehovah's awful throne."

Mrs. G. S. Swanson told of "Beginning the modern Christian Movement," with the coming of missionaries to Japan in 1859, and the difficulties met and overcome even though the edict boards against Christianity were still hanging. Stress was laid upon the pioneer work of Dr. Hepburn, a noted physician, who with his wife's efforts was said to have opened the hearts of the Japanese people.

Mrs. N. P. Omsted gave an account of the work of Dr. Verbeck, a man of international training, and more than any other foreigner was trusted by high officials in affairs of state. Dr. Verbeck was contemporary with Dr. Hepburn.

Mrs. Dan Smith gave the account of "The return of Roman Catholic missionaries" in Japan, 1862, showing that there were thousands of the descendants of the ancient Christians, especially at Magasaki, who after eight generations still remained loyal to the Christian faith.

Mrs. C. W. Hoffman gave the story of the conversion of three Japanese nobleman who for several years studied the Chinese version of a Bible, picked out of the water, falling from the pocket of a Dutch sailor at a Japanese port.

Miss Robinson read of "Captain Janis" an instructor in training Japanese leaders and a zealous Christian, who upon an occasion defended a number of young men students from persecution and death, after which the students gathered under a gnarled pine and in their own blood signed a solemn covenant to stand fast and go forth to enlighten the darkness of the empire with the gospel of Christ.

Mrs. Conrad's subject stressed the conversion of Dr. Nemura, later author, pastor, educator and administrator.

Mrs. Harry Wilson told of the "Foundation of the Church being laid" which revealed the courage of eleven young men who committed themselves irrevocably to the Christian cause in the face of the opposition of friends and relatives, of the law of the land and of public opinion.

The program closed with Mrs. J. M. Elder giving "Illuminating quotations" by Dr. K. Ibuka, which showed the growth of the first Christian church at Yokahama and in connection with the present conditions, that the gospel is spreading in outward form with Christianity moulding the thoughts and ideals of Japanese people and the great present task of the Japanese church is that of finding training and thrusting forth into the whitening harvest field, capable efficient leaders.

A social hour followed the program, with refreshments served by the hostess.

Take Scenes at Circus for "Boy of Mine" Picture

A genuine circus, one of the biggest and most famous, was used as a background for some of the scenes of "Boy of Mine," which J. K. McDonald produced for First National, and which will be shown at the New Park on Saturday and Sunday at regular prices.

The scenes were "shot" during the visit to Los Angeles of "the greatest show on earth."

Ben Alexander, the First National boy star, who was "Penrod" in "Penrod and Sam," was the hero of them all.

"Boy of Mine," which, like "Penrod and Sam," is a picturization of a Booth Tarkington story, centers around the life of a typical American boy, a part played by Ben. Humorous incidents in the picture have to do with his visit to the circus.

That the circus episodes would reflect the true atmosphere of a circus, J. K. McDonald sought permission to "shoot" his scenes during a Saturday afternoon matinee. The privilege was granted and the unit was moved bag and baggage to the circus lot.

In all, fifteen different scenes were taken in and about the "greatest show."

STUDY CREATIVE FORCES IN JAPAN

Mrs. John F. Woodhead Directed Study of Achievements of Christian Movement

TWELVE SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Social Hour Followed With Refreshments Served by the Hostess

The Missionary society of the First Congregational church held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. E. P. Slipp on Friday afternoon, with a very good attendance, including three visitors.

Mrs. J. P. Woodhead, leader, directed the study of "The achievements of Christian movement" from "Creative Forces in Japan," with the carrying out of the following program. Mrs. Woodhead prefaced the study by showing how evangelism in Japan differs from that elsewhere and that the people of Japan as civilized, powerful, proud and fully acquainted with the short comings of the Christian people, which with the suspicion of political designs of the earlier days, makes the situation for extension work difficult.

Mrs. Slipp told of "The tragic first coming of Christianity," showing the Jesuits in 1549 being the first to carry the gospel message to the Japanese by the far-famed missionary, Francis Xavier, and after the work of thirty years by his successors showed half a million Christians.

Mrs. Robt. Duerr followed with the story of the Japanese martyrs, revealing twenty-six martyrs crucified at Nagasaki in 1597. With the extermination of Christianity in 1638, Japan's doors were closed to foreigners, lasting for over two hundred years.

Mrs. Losey gave the story of "A little child's faith" and showed a Japanese child being educated at a mission school of the present day, refusing to worship by the bowing of the head to the idol god, which resulted in the teacher looking into the Christian religion and later becoming a Christian.

Mrs. F. W. Wieland gave the account of Commodore Perry opening the doors of Japan by the treaty of peace, 1854. In spite of the fact that "Trade" was the reason for the doors being opened, we are proud to know that when Sunday morning dawned and Japanese officials wanted to visit his flagship, Perry told them that callers could not be received, as it was the day Americans worshipped God.

A Bible was laid on the Stars and Stripes, the ship's band played "Old Hundred" and all the American sailors sang lustily "Before Jehovah's awful throne."

Mrs. G. S. Swanson told of "Beginning the modern Christian Movement," with the coming of missionaries to Japan in 1859, and the difficulties met and overcome even though the edict boards against Christianity were still hanging. Stress was laid upon the pioneer work of Dr. Hepburn, a noted physician, who with his wife's efforts was said to have opened the hearts of the Japanese people.

tion of friends and relatives, of the law of the land and of public opinion.

The program closed with Mrs. J. M. Elder giving "Illuminating quotations" by Dr. K. CELEBRATED 90TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. John Oliver Guest of Honor in Stillwater, as Relatives Surprise Her

Mrs. Ellen Seerest has returned from Stillwater, where she attended the ninetieth birthday celebration of her mother, Mrs. John Oliver. A surprise party was planned in the latter's honor, and with her children, grandchildren, a few of her relatives and neighbors about her, she passed the day with the group who had assembled to pay this pioneer a visit that was enjoyed by all.

The Stillwater Gazette pays this tribute to Mrs. Oliver: "Her relatives and friends are proud of her. In fact everybody apparently is thrilled over the fact that she is ninety years old. Mrs. Oliver herself is thrilled with the thought that ten years more may be added to her long life.

"She is of a cheerful disposition, converses on the telephone with her friends very often. Her eyesight is wonderful and she passes the time knitting lace. She is now knitting with number 80 thread. Her husband passed away ten years ago, lacking six months of being 91 years of age. She has lived continuously in her present home for 71 years."

Mother

Mother has lived a life from year to year

With smiling face and unreluctant soul.

Not hastening to nor turning from the goal.

Not mourning for the things that disappear

In the dim past, nor holding back in fear

From what the future veils but with a true

And happy heart that pays its toll.

From youth to age, Mother has toiled on with cheer.

Mrs. Ellen Seerest.

Committee Submits Suggestions to Brainerd Residents

SHRUBBERY ORDERED SOON

Value of Various Flowers For This Section Considered

The "Beautiful Brainerd" committee submits the following suggestions to Brainerd residents as the time for action is short.

Shrubbery—Shrubbery should be ordered at once. The local florists will order what is desired. A few dollars spent in shrubbery adds many dollars to the value of a home.

Gladiolus—No flower grown in this section is more satisfactory than gladiolus. When the bulbs are once acquired and cared for the expense is at an end. Some local florist will furnish gladiolus bulbs at from 35 cents a dozen and up according to quality.

These require a well fertilized bed and good cultivation. It is possible to secure wonderful varieties and this flower is growing more popular. As they can be grown close together one gets many fine flowers in a small space. There are a number who have purchased bulbs to grow this season and doubtless there will be many interesting comparisons as to results gained. Because "Glads" are so easy to grow and so satisfactory in results the committee highly recommends that they be considered for Beautifying Brainerd.

Dahlias—One is prone to think of the old closely quilled dahlias when they think of this flower. No other flower has had the improvements made in it that has been made with the dahlia during the last decade or two. The most popular variety of this flower is the hybrid cactus and the peony flowered type. Local growers produced flowers 6 1/2 inches in diameter, last year, exquisitely colored and greatly admired. It is stated that there are over 7,000 named varieties of dahlias grown today.

The committee recommends this flower because it is so hardy, is easily raised and produces wonderful flowers. Dahlias multiply rapidly and a large number may be had from a small beginning in a very few years. The colors are most remarkable.

Other Flowers—There are asters, sweet peas, marigolds, petunias, calliopsis, zinnias, and many other flowers which reward the effort made to care for them and which add so much to the attractions of the home.

The committee hopes that many citizens will cheerfully join in the campaign to make Brainerd a more beautiful city. It is greatly desired that the residents along the streets on which the tourists enter and leave the city give flowers as much attention as possible as the effect upon those who visit our city will be most pleasing.

Flower Display—One merchant has informed the committee that he will ask those who raise beautiful specimens of named varieties of flowers to bring him the blooms and he will see that they are properly labeled and displayed in his window. This will be done to stimulate interest in the better flowers.

THE RACE IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, April 11.—Just for the reason that the New York Yankees are expected by the majority of the baseball critics to be set for another stroll to the championship, the American League pennant race has the possibility of a tremendous sensation that would develop if the Yankees should not live up to form.

It is more or less accepted if the Giants should falter in the National League, one of two contending teams would win the pennant, but in the American League it would become almost an open contest if the Yankees should happen to stumble and fall by the wayside.

On the assumption that baseball is too uncertain to accept the position of the Yankees as impregnable, five or six teams stand for the pennant in the American League.

Since 1914, when the Boston Braves upset all calculations in the National League by trailing behind the pack until July and then stepping out and winning the pennant, a critic can give any team a pennant chance without risking his hide before the pistol of an assassin.

Four new managers have been appointed in the American League since the season closed last fall, one team has been completely reorganized, one team has been tremendously strengthened, and one has been improved.

Lee Fohl, with the Boston Red Sox; Frank Chance, with Chicago White Sox; Buck Harris, with the Washington Senators, and George Sisler, with the St. Louis Browns, are the new pilots. Because they have new managers, who may introduce new policies and whose leadership may exert some kind of a new inspiration, these clubs cannot be figured on past performances.

The Boston Red Sox have been reorganized from top to bottom with new owners and a new manager. The club has been strengthened by the addition of Steve O'Neil, one of the great catchers; by Wambegans, a fine second baseman; Bobby Veatch, slugging outfielder, and by Dudley Lee, a rookie shortstop, who has been hailed as a sensation by veteran baseball scouts.

By the use of substantial cash, Connie Mack has added to the Philadelphia Athletics Strand and Simmons, two highly-touted young outfielders, and Max Bishop, a promising second baseman from the fine Baltimore club. For two years Mack hasn't needed much to be "up there," and perhaps these three players will be needed "much."

The Cleveland Indians, at a sacrifice, succeeded in getting George Burns back from Boston, a position that has been weak since Doc Johnston's legs went back on him.

St. Louis is to gamble on the success that Manager George Sisler has in his attempt to play first base again. With a Sisler in anything approaching old-time form, the Browns are a pennant contender; without him they are in a battle for the first division.

As it will be observed, the American League clubs, with the exception of the Yankees, are all uncertain quantities. The Yankees are certain only by the exercise of an opinion that a piece of mechanism, almost perfect on a baseball blue-print, will function as such when it is put into action and that there are no worn parts in the machine that are likely to give way under the strain of hard work.

STRONG MAN TO APPEAR IN THIS CITY ON APRIL 30

RICARDO NELSON FEATURE OF PROGRAM AT GARDNER
HALL

FILMED BY WEEKLY NEWS AS
"WORLD'S LATEST STRONG MAN"

Ricardo Nelson
Twisting heavy horseshoe as one would handle spaghetti

Ricardo Nelson, acclaimed the strongest man in the world, which is taking in a lot of territory, is to be the feature attraction of an entertainment program to be staged at the Gardner hall Wednesday evening, April 30. Nelson, who hails from Minneapolis, is stated to include in his marvelous acts the following: muscle demonstration, with fingers pinches off the corner of a deck of cards or a two-inch thick book, tears a three-inch thick book in two with his hands, bends a 7-8 to 1 inch diameter steel bar with his teeth, winds same bar to a spiral around his leg, lifts four times his own weight on one arm, breaks asunder a 1 1/2 inch diameter hemp rope which has been tested to withstand a strain of 4,400 pounds. Not only does he claim to perform these stunts but he offers $500 to anyone proving any fake. Therefore, "doubting Thomases" are invited to attend and be their own judges.

In addition to the strong man stunts, there will be an accordion concert by Berg Brothers, to be followed later in the evening by dancing.

Richard Nelson is the proper name of the 24 year old marvel of physical development, who has astounded the experts of this country with his feats of strength, reports the Brockton, Mass., Times. The South Bend, Ind., Tribune characterizes him as a modern Sampson, while other press comments are equally commendatory.

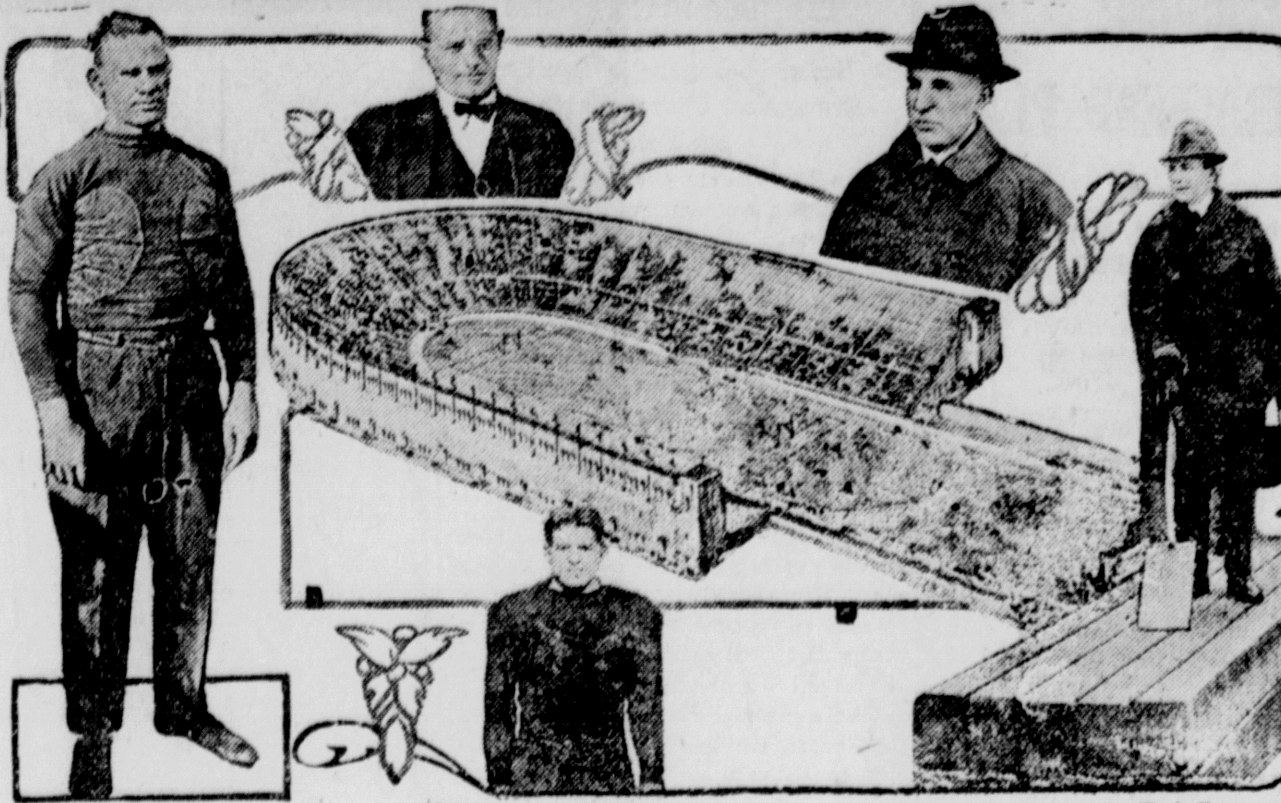

Detroit Club May Join Northern Gopher Loop

Bemidji, April 10.—Detroit's baseball club in all probability will be a member of the proposed Northern Minnesota Baseball league. Indications are that the league will be at least an eight-club circuit with Verndale and Wadena as possibilities.

Understudy for Kelly

New York, April 10.—George Kelly, the elongated first sacker of the New York Giants, will have a worthy understudy this year in the person of Terry of Toledo. This fellow Terry is hitting them so hard in spring training that Kelly is already worried.

University of Minnesota $600,000 Stadium

Minneapolis, April 11.—Work has been under way for a month on the $600,000 stadium, financed by subscriptions, which the University of Minnesota is building to bring its athletic equipment up to the standard set by other Western Conference universities. The big horseshoe will be ready for use by Oct. 1, the contractors have promised.

The new gopher stadium will have a seating capacity of 50,000, more than twice that of the veteran Northrop Field, which has witnessed all phases of Maroon and Gold athletic history since 1896, including the play of championship teams and such famous players as John McGovern, Bert Baston, Lyle Johnson, Ed Rogers, Arnold Oss and Earl Martineau. "Marty," Minnesota's star contribution to last year's All-American team, missed playing on the big new field by only one year.

The contract calls for completion of the stadium by Oct. 25, so that it may surely be ready for use on Nov. 1, date of this year's Michigan game and of the formal ceremony of dedication. As a matter of fact the completed structure has been promised for Oct. 1, so that the entire football schedule can be played on the new field. From the practical point of view this was necessary, as otherwise two complete sets of tickets would have been necessary, one for the old field and one for the new, with resultant seating complications that would have been appalling.

Besides the figure of the official contract, the Minnesota Athletic Association will spend between $60,000 and $70,000 on such items as the actual playing field within the stadium, locker, shower, dressing and training rooms, offices and other necessary appurtenances of an up to date athletic plant.

When work was begun on the stadium a month ago, falling snow did not prevent President L. D. Coffman, Fred Luehring, athletic director, and Thomas F. Wallace, president of the Greater University Corporation, from making addresses after Prexy had broken ground at a spot specially thawed by a bonfire.

The accompanying cut shows the architect's conception of the structure, drawn by F. M. Mann, head of the department of architecture at the University of Minnesota. Inset around the stadium picture are, left to right above: Bill Spaulding, head football coach; F. W. Luehring, director of athletics and secretary of the Greater University Corporation, and, at the left, President Coffman with the shovel with which he broke ground. Below is Ted Cox, captain-elect of next year's football team which will be the first to play on the new field.

A supplementary campaign to get new pledges to the stadium and auditorium campaign will be carried on, principally in the twin cities, May 7, 8 and 9. At that time also, students who were not in the university when the campaign was carried on last year will be given an opportunity to subscribe.

Besides providing for football, the new stadium will have a full track, with a 220 yards straightaway for the long dash, also baseball diamonds and provision for all outdoor sports. The structure lies back of the University armory, stretching from University avenue near Harvard street to a point near Oak street and Washington avenue. Decision to place it adjacent to the Main Campus was reached after several sites, one of them near the state fair grounds and another on the shore of the Mississippi river had been considered.

Completion of the structure will give Minnesota a football field of championship caliber to go with the first class teams that are now being turned out under the popular Spaulding regime.

STAR "U" END IS OFFERED FOOTBALL COACHING BERTHS

Minneapolis, April 10.—Ray Eklund, crack football and basketball player at Minnesota, has been offered two coaching positions for the coming year.

One is from Kalamazoo State Normal, to coach basketball, and assist in football.

The other offer is from a Pacific coast institution, the duties to be the same.

Woman Surprises Her Friends

"After a spell of Typhoid Fever 7 years ago I began to suffer from indigestion and gas in my stomach and colic attacks. This gradually became so bad that my doctor advised an operation for gall stones. A friend advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with splendid results. My friends were astonished at my rapid improvement. I have no more bloating and can eat anything I wish." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.—Adv't.

FANNING WITH ARRELL

THE RACE IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, April 11.—Just for the reason that the New York Yankees are expected by the majority of the baseball critics to be set for another stroll to the championship, the American League pennant race has the possibility of a tremendous sensation that would develop if the Yankees should not live up to form.

It is more or less accepted if the Giants should falter in the National League, one of two contending teams would win the pennant, but in the American League it would become almost an open contest if the Yankees should happen to stumble and fall by the wayside.

On the assumption that baseball is too uncertain to accept the position of the Yankees as impregnable, five or six teams stand for the pennant in the American League.

Since 1914, when the Boston Braves upset all calculations in the National League by trailing behind the pack until July and then stepping out and winning the pennant, a critic can give any team a pennant chance without risking his hide before the pistol of an assassin.

Four new managers have been appointed in the American League since the season closed last fall, one team has been completely reorganized, one team has been tremendously strengthened, and one has been improved.

Lee Fohl, with the Boston Red Sox; Frank Chance, with Chicago White Sox; Buck Harris, with the Washington Senators, and George Sisler, with the St. Louis Browns, are the new pilots. Because they have new managers, who may introduce new policies and whose leadership may exert some kind of a new inspiration, these clubs cannot be figured on past performances.

The Boston Red Sox have been reorganized from top to bottom with new owners and a new manager. The club has been strengthened by the addition of Steve O'Neill, one of the great catchers; by Wambgsans, a fine second baseman; Bobby Veach, slugging outfielder, and by Dudley Lee, a rookie shortstop, who has been hailed as a sensation by veteran baseball scouts.

By the use of substantial cash, Connie Mack has added to the Philadelphia Athletics Strand and Simmons, two highly-touted young outfielders, and Max Bishop, a promising second baseman from the fine Baltimore club. For two years Mack hasn't needed much to be "up there," and perhaps these three players will be needed "much."

The Cleveland Indians, at a sacrifice, succeeded in getting George Burns back from Boston, a position that has been weak since Doc Johnston's legs went back on him.

St. Louis is to gamble on the success that Manager George Sisler has in his attempt to play first base again. With a Sisler in anything approaching old-time form, the Browns are a pennant contender; without him they are in a battle for the first division.

As it will be observed, the American League clubs, with the exception of the Yankees, are all uncertain quantities. The Yankees are certain only by the exercise of an opinion that a piece of mechanism, almost perfect on a baseball blue-print, will function as such when it is put into action and that there are no worn parts in the machine that are likely to give way under the strain of hard work.

This gradually became so bad that my doctor advised an operation for gall stones. A friend advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with splendid results. My friends were astonished at my rapid improvement. I have no more bloating and can eat anything I wish." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.—Advt.
